Summer Reading Opportunities and Incentives

Summer reading is critical to a child's ability to not only retain information learned the previous year, but also to grow in knowledge and critical thinking skills for the coming year. A University of Tennessee, Knoxville, research study shows that children who don't read over the summer lose at least two months of reading development. This is often referred to as 'the summer slide' or the 'summer learning loss.' Reading over the summer is not a suggestion to keep kids busy; it's a critical requirement to help students stay on track for their entire educational career and beyond (Study.com).

Sir Ladybug

by Corey R. Tabor

Sir Ladybug never shies away from a quest, even when he'd rather be playing a video game or baking a cake. So, when a caterpillar needs rescuing from a "monster" (a hungry chickadee), Sir Ladybug and his trusty friends—his herald, a roly-poly named Pell, and his squire, a snail named Sterling—hatch the perfect (delicious) plan.

Harriet's Ruffled Feathers

by Joy McCullough and Romina Galotta

Meet the inspiring woman whose love of fashion led her to start a conservation movement and found the Massachusetts Audubon Society in this lively picture book biography. Harriet Lawrence Hemenway loved hats. She loved them with ribbons and flowers, embroidery, and pearls. And feathers! What was better than a hat with grand, glorious feathers? But then Harriet discovered that millions of birds died so that she and her friends could soar at the height of style. A passion for fashion was one thing, but this was feather-brained!

The Young Landlords

by Walter Dean Myers

If you were looking for a real ghetto dump, you couldn't beat The Stratford Arms. There was Askia Ben Kenobi throwing karate chops upstairs, Petey Darden making booze downstairs, and Mrs. Brown grieving for Jack Johnson, who'd died for the third time in a month—and not a rent payer in the bunch. Still, when Paul Williams and the Action Group got the Arms for one dollar, they thought they had it made. But when their friend Chris was arrested for stealing stereos and Dean's dog started biting fire hydrants and Gloria started kissing, being a landlord turned out to be a lot more work than being a kid.

Where the Red Fern Grows

by Woodrow Wilson Rawls

Billy has long dreamt of owning not one, but two, dogs. So when he's finally able to save up enough money for two pups to call his own—Old Dan and Little Ann—he's ecstatic. It doesn't matter that times are tough; together they'll roam the hills of the Ozarks.

Stand Tall

by Joan Bauer

Tree, a six-foot-three-inch twelve-year-old, copes with his parents' recent divorce and his failure as an athlete by helping his grandfather, a Vietnam vet and recent amputee, and Sophie, a new girl at school.

Crater

by Homer Hickam

It's the 22nd Century and a tough, pioneering people are mining the moon to produce energy for a desperate, war torn Earth. Crater Trueblood, an orphan, loves his life in Moontown, a frontier mining settlement. Just turned sixteen, Crater is already a seasoned Helium 3 miner, hoping someday to be a foreman on the scrapes. But "the Colonel," the man who owns the mine, has a different plan for Crater which includes Maria, the Colonel's daring young granddaughter. Crater, accompanied by Maria and his gillie—a sentient and sometimes insubordinate clump of slime mold cells—must shepherd a convoy of Helium 3 trucks across a forbidding river of dust while also looking for a mysterious, historical artifact that could mean the difference between life and death for every inhabitant on the moon.

The House on Mango Street

by Sandra Cisneros

The House on Mango Street is one of the most cherished novels of the last fifty years. Readers from all walks of life have fallen for the voice of Esperanza Cordero, growing up in Chicago and inventing for herself who and what she will become. "In English my name means hope," she says. "In Spanish it means too many letters. It means sadness, it means waiting."

Night

by Elie Wiesel

Night is Elie Wiesel's masterpiece, a candid, horrific, and deeply poignant autobiographical account of his survival as a teenager in the Nazi death camps. This new translation by Marion Wiesel, Elie's wife and frequent translator, presents this seminal memoir in the language and spirit truest to the author's original intent. And in a substantive new preface, Elie reflects on the enduring importance of Night and his lifelong, passionate dedication to ensuring that the world never forgets man's capacity for inhumanity to man.

The Joy Luck Club

by Amy Tan

In 1949, four Chinese women, recent immigrants to San Francisco, begin meeting to play mah jong, remember the past, and gossip into the night. United in unspeakable loss and new hope, they call themselves the Joy Luck Club. With wit and sensitivity, Amy Tan examines the memories that display these women's strength, worries, and determination. As each woman reveals her secrets, trying to unravel the truth about her life, the strings become more tangled, more entwined. Mothers boast or despair over daughters, and daughters roll their eyes even as they feel the inextricable tightening of the matriarchal ties that they believe have stymied their ability to face the uncertainties of the future.

The Hunger Games

by Suzanne Collins

Winning means fame and fortune. Losing means certain death. The Hunger Games have begun. . . .In the ruins of a place once known as North America lies the nation of Panem, a shining Capitol surrounded by twelve outlying districts. The Capitol is harsh and cruel and keeps the districts in line by forcing them all to send one boy and one girl between the ages of twelve and eighteen to participate in the annual Hunger Games, a fight to the death on live TV. Sixteen-year-old Katniss Everdeen regards it as a death sentence when she steps forward to take her sister's place in the Games. But Katniss has been close to dead before—and survival, for her, is second nature. Without really meaning to, she becomes a contender. But if she is to win, she will have to start making choices that weigh survival against humanity and life against love.

The Invisible Man

by H. G. Wells

The Invisible Man of the title is Griffin, a scientist who has devoted himself to research into optics and invents a way to change a body's refractive index to that of air so that it absorbs and reflects no light and thus becomes invisible. He carries out this procedure on himself and renders himself invisible, but fails in his attempt to reverse it. A practitioner of random and irresponsible violence, Griffin has become an iconic character in horror fiction.

The Scarlet Letter

by Nathaniel Hawthorne

The Scarlet Letter: A Romance is a work of historical fiction by American author Nathaniel Hawthorne, published in 1850. Set in Puritan Massachusetts Bay Colony during the years 1642 to 1649, the novel tells the story of Hester Prynne, who conceives a daughter through an affair and then struggles to create a new life of repentance and dignity. Containing a number of religious and historic allusions, the book explores themes of legalism, sin, and guilt.

The Jungle

by Upton Sinclair

Sinclair wrote the novel to portray the lives of immigrants in the United States in Chicago and similar industrialized cities. Many readers were most concerned with his exposure of health violations and unsanitary practices in the American meatpacking industry during the early 20th century, based on an investigation he did for a socialist newspaper.

The Legend of Sleepy Hollow

by Washington Irving

Perhaps the marker of a true mythos is when the stories themselves overshadow their creator. Originally published under a pseudonym as The Sketch Book of Geoffrey Crayon, Gent., The Legend of Sleepy Hollow and Other Stories gave America its own haunted mythology. This collection of larger-than-life tales contains Washington Irving's best-known literary inventions—Ichabod Crane, the Headless Horseman, and Rip Van Winkle—that continue to capture our imaginations today.

12th Summer Reading List

Narrative of Sojourner Truth

by Sojourner Truth

She was sold for $100 but grew beyond her place in society to demand rights for women as well as African Americans. This is her story. This is her voice.

She is the passionate woman on the Smithsonian Institution's list of "100 Most Significant Americans." She was the first black woman to win a case against a white man to regain her son. She was important enough in her own time to meet Abraham Lincoln.

Read of her inspirational life in this unabridged, affordably printed volume.

A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court

by Mark Twain

This novel tells the story of Hank Morgan, the quintessential self-reliant New Englander who brings to King Arthur's Age of Chivalry the "great and beneficent" miracles of nineteenth-century engineering and American ingenuity. Through the collision of past and present, Twain exposes the insubstantiality of both utopias, destroying the myth of the romantic ideal as well as his own era's faith in scientific and social progress.

A central document in American intellectual history, A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court is at once a hilarious comedy of anachronisms and incongruities, a romantic fantasy, a utopian vision, and a savage, anarchic social satire that only one of America's greatest writers could pen.

What was your favorite (or least favorite) part about this book?

Would you recommend this book to a friend? Why or why not?

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
1 Find items around the house that begin with the /u/ sound (e.g., umbrella, up). Say each item out loud.	2 Create silly sentences using words with the /u/ sound. For example, "The upset flamingo jumps under the umbrella."	3 Say each consonant sound from the list (/b/, /c/, /d/, /f/, /g/, /h/, /j/, /l/, /m/, /n/, /p/, /r/, /s/, /t/, /v/, /w/) and clap for each sound.	4 Write words with /u/ in the middle. Say each word while writing. Can you create a silly story using the words?	5 Practice writing uppercase and lowercase Uu in the air with your finger, then on paper.	6 Search for items that begin with /g/ and /w/ (e.g., game, window). List them out loud. How many did you find?	7 Create a matching game with words that have "g" and "w." Write them on paper, then mix them up to match later.
8 Play "I Spy" using the sounds /b/, /c/, /d/, /f/, /m/, /n/, /s/. For example, "I spy with my little eye something that starts with /b/."	9 Write sentences using words that begin with "g" and "w". Illustrate your favorite sentence. Tell someone about your sentence.	10 Write uppercase and lowercase Gg and Ww in the air and then on paper. How many can you write?	11 Look for objects with /ks/ and /v/ sounds (e.g., box, vase). Say each object out loud.	12 Find as many rhyming words as possible for "vet" (e.g., set, bet) and say them together.	13 Create a phonics song using the consonants and vowels you've learned. Sing it out loud!	14 Write words with the -et pattern (vet, get, pet, let, bet) on paper and read them out loud.
15 Write uppercase and lowercase Xx and Vv in different colors.	16 Find items that begin with /j/ and /kw/ (e.g., jar, queen). List and say them.	17 Make silly sentences using words with "j" and "qu." For example, "The queen jumps over the jaguar."	18 Search for items that begin with sounds /f/, /h/, /i/, /l/, /m/, /n/, /o/, /p/. Create a silly sentence using these items.	19 Write sentences using words with "j" and "qu" (jam, quit). Draw a picture to go with your sentence.	20 Practice writing uppercase and lowercase Jj and Qq in the air and on paper.	21 Search for objects with /y/ and /z/ sounds (e.g., yellow, zebra). Say each one out loud.
22 Read the back of a cereal box or book and find words with /y/ and /z/.	23 Use flashcards with consonant and vowel sounds. Say each sound and have a family member repeat it.	24 Write words with "y" and "z" (yam, zip) and use them in a short story.	25 Write uppercase and lowercase Yy and Zz, then decorate them with colors or stickers.	26 Search for items around the house that start with /y/ and /z/. Write and read them out loud.	27 Choose a favorite book and find words that contain the /g/ and /w/ sounds. Read the book and point out the words as you come across them.	28 Create sentences and use words with "Jj" and "Qq." How many Jj words did you use? How many Qq words?
29 Write a short poem or a few lines using words with "Gg" and "Ww". Share your poem with family members and read it out loud.	30 Have a handwriting party! Write uppercase and lowercase Uu, Xx, Vv beautifully on colorful paper. Decorate the paper with drawings or stickers related to the letters.
